

The weirdest Christmas ever

By Kelis Y

There was a little girl called Lillie, on Christmas day she wanted a new doll. When she opened her present there was a doll, she wished for. She proceeded to open the rest of the presents. She was pleased with all her Christmas presents, especially her doll. After she had opened all her presents it was time for Christmas dinner with her family. Lillie loved Christmas dinner, roast chicken with all the trimmings. She ate so much her belly was very full.

When she slept there appeared an elf on the shelf in the house and the shelf on the shelf turned the doll into a human. When the doll was alive, she didn't know where to sleep so she slept on the floor. When it was the next morning Lillie wanted to play with her doll, but she didn't see it anywhere. She only heard footsteps and she looked behind her and saw her doll alive. The doll was walking to go and get breakfast. Lillie then saw the elf of the shelf she thought the elf made the doll come alive.

When Lillie was walking, she saw a magic spell book on the floor and it magically opened by itself and then it gave Lillie a potion to make a smoothie. The human had to drink it and it turned back into Lillie's favorite doll again.
